
Literator

A meeting place between the lines

A discreet literary salon in the heart of Moscow, where rare books meet author-led cocktail culture and unhurried conversation.

THE CONCEPT

A twenty-first-century literary salon

We created Literator as a refuge from the city's rush. Here the whisper of turning pages mingles with crystal glassware, while low lamplight settles over dark polished wood.

Every detail—from shelves of rare editions to menus designed like vintage almanacs—invites thoughtful conversation and a slower kind of evening.
